

Cause: The user has already claimed the Uniqueness credential in one of his accounts and when trying to claim the Uniqueness credential in another account he gets the issue above.

Solution: We suggest the user to use the original account where he already has the Uniqueness Credential since it can only be issued and claimed once in a lifetime, it cannot be claimed again on a different account.